Play... the piano. The "old Joanna" formed the soundtrack to shows at Erdem, Zac Posen and Donna Karan. Can't play? Why not take in a lunchtime recital at the Handel House Museum (Handelhouse.org; 020 7495 1685) or the Bishopsgate Institute (Bishopsgate.org.uk; 020 7392 9200).

RODARTE

Spring into shape...

at Kangoo Jumps classes, every Thursday evening at Gymbox, St Martin's Lane, WC2, at 6.45pm. Gymbox.co.uk; 020 7395 0270

Ply yourself with... mohair.

Think early-Eighties Westwood revival, and invest in Rodarte's jacket, or get great woollens on the high street at Whistles, above, £90, and Topshop.

Flowers & Diaghilev (2008) by Elizabeth Peyton

Paint the bedroom... in shades of purple from Francesca's Paints. Among our favourites are Frederico's Aubergine (far right) and The Storm (far left). Francescapaint.com; 020 7228 7694.

Marvel at... Fish Tank,

a film written and directed by Andrea Arnold. Mia's (Katie Jarvis), right, life on a sink estate is shaken up by the arrival of her mother's boyfriend, Connor (Michael Fassbender). Seventeen-year-old Jarvis was discovered at an Essex railway station in the throes of a domestic with her boyfriend (with whom she now has a baby) and her performance is stunning. On release September 11.

Head to... Sadler's Wells, for the world premiere of In the Spirit of Diaghilev, four works by four choreographers inspired by the Ballets Russes founder's exhortation to Jean Cocteau: "Surprise me!" From October 13 to 17. Sadlerswells.com; 0844 412 4300.

Spotify...

Lissy Trullie, above. This red-haired ex-model is one of the faces of Hervé Léger's a/w '09 collection. But don't underestimate her music. With Patti Smith's boyish charm and Debbie Harry's CBGB zeal, she'd rather test-run her throaty tunes past her family in DC than the hipster crowd she DJs for at Bungalow 8.
